

5 things you need to know about Lexis® Singapore^{2.0}

1 All in ONE platform for the first time

- Being the first platform with both primary and secondary law, users can maximise the productivity of their research time by accessing expert analysis of the law in Singapore on the same platform as the full text of all current Acts and subsidiary legislation.

2 Commentary Sources linked to Singapore Legislation

- Adapted to the way you research, Lexis® Singapore^{2.0} enables you to link directly from commentary sources like Halsbury's Laws of Singapore to the full text of the legislation with a single click.

3 Singapore Legislation linked to Commentary Sources

- Never miss out on what the experts have to say. Links throughout the legislation take the user to search results showing the location of discussions of the relevant provision in any subscribed Singapore commentary title.

4 Table of Defined Terms available for every instrument

- Users can browse a list of all the words and phrases defined in each instrument, with links to the corresponding provisions throughout the instrument, so users can compare variations in definitions based on their legislative context.

5 Faster and Better Search

- Enhanced search algorithms and a dedicated search field have been introduced for more targeted search results so users find what they need faster on Lexis® Singapore^{2.0}.
