

JUDGE'S CHAMBERS,
SUPREME COURT,

PENANG,

The Editor,
The Malayan Law Journal,
20, Malacca Street,
SINGAPORE, 1.

My dear Mr Mallet,

I feel it entirely presumptuous that I should write a farewell message for you, for publication in your Journal, on the occasion of my departure for Hong Kong, but since you have asked me to do so I accede, with diffidence and in all humility, to your request. However, in so writing, I can with every truth avail myself of this opportunity of expressing my own sincere appreciation of the incomparable value that your Journal has rendered, and continues to render, to the Bench and Bar of this country, and my own personal gratitude to you for the very real pleasure I have myself derived from browsing through its successive publications of the last quarter of a century.

The intense personal interest that you yourself take in the preparation and publication of this work is well known to all of us. Long may you continue to enjoy health and strength, so that your splendid contribution to the administration of justice may remain with us.

Yours sincerely,

W. S. R. G. J.
